

Immediate Risk – Call 999

High-Risk indicators below:

Serious Harm: Severe distress and/or physical/psychological harm. Risk of homicide, suicide, or self-harm.

Likelihood of Harm: Assess frequency - is it happening daily or at every opportunity. living together or apart. Is the person planning to leave

Beyond Physical Harm: Include non-physical risks like harassment, control, coercion and stalking, Is it honour based?.

Impact on Children: Children witnessing or experiencing abuse are also victims. Whether it is direct or indirect experiences.

Escalation and Cumulative risk : Note any increase in incidents – or consider previous incidents, number of hearings at MARAC etc. Ensure you consider the combination of previous and current incidents. Considering the level of impact on the victim and family.

If HIGH-RISK follow the steps below-

If not immediate but you are concerned it is High-Risk (see above) - Assess and refer the person at risk:

A victim and their children can be in daily terror/fear, if they decline, always try again or pass on to relevant professionals to continue trying, when safe to do so. BUILDING TRUST TAKES TIME BUT CAN SAVE LIVES!- If unsure talk to a Domestic abuse service/professional or call a multi-agency meeting!

MEDIUM - Risks and Concerns Present But Not Immediate.

Risk = Harm + Likelihood

•Harm: Can be physical or psychological. Consider the impact, duration of abuse, and recovery needs.

•Likelihood: Is harm ongoing or likely to recur? Assess frequency, duration, and context. Identify existing strengths, strategies, and support that could reduce risk.

•Escalation and Cumulative risk : Note any increase in incidents – or consider previous incidents, amount of hearings at MARAC etc. Ensure you consider the combination of previous and current incidents. Considering the level of impact on the victim and family.

Assess the person at risk:

When safe to do so -
