

Safeguarding Children – Contacts, Definitions, and Information

In this document you will find a range of information and resources to support you. If you become aware that a child needs safeguarding, could be at risk of, or is being abused or neglected it is important that you let the right people know, so that the right help can be given to the child and their family.

Doing nothing is not an option!

Abuse:

A form of maltreatment of a child. Somebody may abuse or neglect a child by inflicting harm, or by failing to act to prevent harm. Harm can include ill treatment that is not physical as well as the impact of witnessing ill treatment of others. This can be particularly relevant, for example, in relation to the impact on children of all forms of domestic abuse, including where they see, hear, or experience its effects. Children may be abused in a family or in an institutional or community setting by those known to them or, more rarely, by others. Abuse can take place wholly online, or technology may be used to facilitate offline abuse. Children may be abused by an adult or adults, or by another child or children.

Keeping children safe in education 2025

Look out for ABC - To spot the signs of child abuse or neglect look out for changes. If these signs and indicators are noticed they may be linked to a child who has unmet needs, or who is experiencing abuse, rather than a specific unmet need or type of abuse.

- Appearance: such as unusual injuries or consistently poor hygiene.
- Behaviour: such as being withdrawn, overly anxious, disruptive or self-harming or any other sudden changes in behaviour.
- Communication: such as talking aggressively, using sexual language or becoming secretive.

Report child abuse - GOV.UK

Abuse Signs in Others

(adults; particularly those caring/supervising, or other children)

- Disguised compliance (engaging to keep professionals away from the child and the home).
- Coercive control (controlling and/or isolating the child or their carers).
- Excuses for, avoidance of or refusal to discuss concerns (about them or the child) when raised.
- Secretive and/or avoidant (or encouraging the child to be).
- Overly critical and/or demanding of the child.
- Dismissing or negative about the child and their needs.
- Lack of affection and/or empathy for the child.

Online Abuse is:

Any type of abuse that happens on the internet. It can happen across any device that's connected to the web including mobile phones, laptops and tablets. It can happen everywhere online including on social media, live-streaming sites via text messages and messaging apps, emails, online chats and gaming.

Children can be at risk of online abuse from strangers as well as people they know. The abuse might only be happening online, or it may be part of other abuse which is taking place offline, like grooming or bullying.

Online abuse | NSPCC
Regional Procedures Online Safety

Definition of Emotional Abuse:

The persistent emotional maltreatment of a child so as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the child's emotional development. It may involve conveying to children that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of another person. It may include not giving the child opportunities to express their views, deliberately silencing them or 'making fun' of what they say or how they communicate.

It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on children. These may include interactions that are beyond the child's developmental capability, as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning, or preventing the child participating in normal social interaction.

It may involve seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another. It may involve serious bullying (including cyber bullying), causing children frequently to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of children. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of maltreatment of a child, though it may occur alone.

Working together to safeguard children 2026: statutory guidance

Parental Conflict:

Some level of arguing and conflict between parents is often a normal part of everyday life. However, there is strong evidence to show how inter-parental conflict that is frequent, intense and poorly resolved can have a significant negative impact on children's mental health and long-term life chances.

Reducing Parental Conflict - Shropshire Approach
Reducing Parental Conflict: what is parental conflict?

Prevent:

Prevent is one of the most challenging parts of the counter terrorism strategy, because it operates in the pre-criminal space, before any criminal activity has taken place.

It is about safeguarding - supporting and protecting those people who might be susceptible to radicalisation, and ensuring that individuals and communities have the resilience to resist violent extremism.

Definition of Domestic Abuse:

The Domestic Abuse Act 2021 introduced the first ever statutory definition of domestic abuse (see section 1 of the Act). The statutory definition is clear that domestic abuse may be a single incident or a course of conduct which can encompass a wide range of abusive behaviours, including a) physical or sexual abuse; b) violent or threatening behaviour; c) controlling or coercive behaviour; d) economic abuse; and e) psychological, emotional or other abuse.

Under the statutory definition, both the person who is carrying out the behaviour and the person to whom the behaviour is directed towards must be aged 16 or over and they must be “personally connected” (as defined in section 2 of the Act). The definition ensures that different types of relationships are captured, including ex-partners and family members.

Section 3 of the Act recognises the impact of domestic abuse on children (defined as a person under 18) as victims in their own right, if they see, hear or experience the effects of abuse involving a person they are related to. A child is related to a person if the person is a parent of, or has parental responsibility for, the child, or the child and the person are relatives.

Domestic Abuse — Shropshire Safeguarding Community Partnership

Definition of Physical Abuse:

A form of abuse which may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating, or otherwise causing physical harm to a child.

Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces, illness in a child.

Regional Procedures Physical Abuse

Common Sites for Accidental Injuries:

Nose, forehead, chin, forearm, elbows, bony spine, hip, knees

What we know about Bruising / injuries:

- Bruising is strongly related to a child's mobility- Accidental bruising on a baby who is not yet crawling (independently mobile) is very unusual.
- Accidental Bruising should match the explanation provided.
- The head and face is the most common site of bruising where there have been acts of abuse

What you might see ABC Appearance - Behaviour – Communication

Abusive injuries may not match the explanation given by the child or parent/carer

Appearance

- Skull and/or facial injuries (cheeks, black eyes, mouth)
- ears, side of face or neck, top of shoulders and upper arm
- forearm (defensive injuries)
- back and side of trunk
- chest and abdomen
- genitals
- thighs and behind knees

Behaviour

- Unusually fearful with adults
- Unnaturally compliant
- Withdrawal from physical contact – maybe due to injury / bruises
- Looking uncomfortable/in pain.
- Aggression towards others
- Wearing cover up clothing
- Withdrawing from social group

Communication

- Refusal to discuss injuries or excuses for them
- Aggression towards others / Threats to others
- Lack of social peer group
- Giving small bits of information – testing to see how you react
- Disclose through play/communication with others
- Disclosing abuse

Be aware of signs of abuse from others - particularly adults who are caring and/or supervising children, or other children

Female Genital Mutilation (FGM)

Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) is a procedure where the female genital organs are injured or changed, but there is no medical reason for this. It can seriously harm the health of women and girls in the long term. All types of FGM are extremely harmful with many short- and long-term health implications. It's sometimes known as 'female circumcision' or 'female genital cutting'. It can be carried out on young babies, girls and women. FGM procedures can cause: severe pain and bleeding, emotional and psychological shock, infections, problems with giving birth later in life - including the death of the baby.

Is illegal in the UK. It's also illegal to take a British national or permanent resident abroad for FGM or to help someone trying to do this.

Regional Procedures Female Genital Mutilation FGM – the facts leaflet

Professionals who work in health, social care and teaching professions have a legal duty to report known cases of FGM to the police.

'Honour'-based abuse:

'Honour'-based abuse is the term used to describe incidents or crimes which have been committed to protect or defend the honour of the family and/or the community.

Regional Procedures So Called 'Honour-Based' Abuse

Definition of Child Sexual Abuse:

Involves forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in sexual activities, not necessarily involving a high level of violence, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration (for example, rape or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts, such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing, and touching outside of clothing. They may also include non-contact activities, such as involving children in looking at, or in the production of, sexual images, watching sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways, or grooming a child in preparation for abuse. Sexual abuse can take place in family settings, in institutional settings, online, and technology can be used to facilitate offline abuse. Child sexual abuse material available online may have been generated in a family environment. Online abuse can also take the form of cyber-grooming or self-generated sexual content under coercion. Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other children. A child of any age or gender can be a victim of sexual abuse.

- Disclosures about other things

Be aware of signs of abuse from others - particularly adults who are caring and/or supervising children, or other children

- Gatekeeping contact with professionals (inc disguised compliance)
- Interrupting/undermining the relationship between a child and their parent/carer
- Grooming behaviours
- Taking a child to secret places or playing 'special games' with them; especially games unusual for their age
- Excuses and Avoidance. Refusal to discuss injuries or excuses for them
- Evidence child is experiencing neglected/domestic abuse within family.

Extra-familial harm (community or institutional setting):

Children may be at risk of or experiencing physical, sexual, or emotional abuse and exploitation in contexts outside their families

Children can be vulnerable to multiple forms of extra-familial harm from both adults and/or other children. Examples of extra-familial harm may include (but are not limited to): criminal exploitation (such as county lines and financial exploitation), serious violence, modern slavery and trafficking, online harm, sexual exploitation, child-on-child (nonfamilial) sexual abuse and other forms of harmful sexual behaviour displayed by children towards their peers, abuse, and/or coercive control, children may experience in their own intimate relationships (sometimes called teenage relationship abuse), and the influences of extremism which could lead to radicalisation.

Working together to safeguard children 2026: statutory guidance

Extra-familial contexts:

Extra-familial contexts include a range of environments outside the family home in which harm can occur. These can include peer groups, school, and community/public spaces, including known places in the community where there are concerns about risks to children (for example, parks, housing estates, shopping centres, takeaway restaurants, or transport hubs), as well as online, including social media or gaming platforms.

Working together to safeguard children 2026: statutory guidance
Contextual Safeguarding – Safeguarding Network

Child Exploitation:

Exploitation is a form of abuse. It occurs where an individual or group takes advantage of an imbalance of power to coerce, manipulate or deceive a child, young person, or adult (including those with care and support needs) into any activity that results in financial or other advantage for the perpetrator or facilitator. Activity includes arranging or facilitating the involvement or travel (trafficking) of a child, young person, or adult (including those with care and support needs)

Regional Procedures Children Affected by Harm Outside of the Home
Local Child Exploitation Guidance

Child-on-Child Abuse:

Recognition should be given to the fact that children are capable of abusing other children (including online). Abuse is abuse and should never be tolerated or passed off as “banter” or “part of growing up”. Victims of peer abuse should be supported as they would be if they were the victim of any other form of abuse. Support will need to be given to perpetrators and any other children affected by child-on-child abuse.

Different forms of child-on-child abuse include:

- Bullying (including cyberbullying, prejudice-based and discriminatory bullying)
- Abuse in intimate personal relationships between children (also known as teenage relationship abuse).
- Physical abuse such as hitting, kicking, shaking, biting, hair pulling, or otherwise causing physical harm (this may include an online element which facilitates, threatens and/or encourages physical abuse)
- Sexual violence, such as rape, assault by penetration and sexual assault; (this may include an online element which facilitates, threatens and/or encourages sexual violence)
- Sexual harassment, such as sexual comments, remarks, jokes and online sexual harassment, which may be standalone or part of a broader pattern of abuse; causing someone to engage in sexual activity without consent, such as forcing someone to strip, touch themselves sexually, or to engage in sexual activity with a third party
- Consensual and non-consensual sharing of nude and semi-nude images and/or videos (also known as Sexting or youth produced sexual imagery).
- Causing someone to engage in sexual activity without consent, such as forcing someone to strip, touch themselves sexually, or to engage in sexual activity with a third party
- Upskirting (which is a criminal offence) which typically involves taking a picture under a person’s clothing without their permission, with the intention of viewing their genitals or buttocks to obtain sexual gratification, or cause the victim humiliation, distress or alarm
- Initiation/hazing type violence and rituals (this could include activities involving harassment, abuse or humiliation used as a way of initiating a person into a group and may also include an online element).

Keeping children safe in education 2025

Definition of Child Neglect:

The persistent failure to meet a child's basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of the child's health or development. Neglect may occur during pregnancy as a result of maternal substance abuse. Once a child is born, neglect may involve a parent or carer failing to:

- provide adequate food, clothing, and shelter (including exclusion from home or abandonment)
- protect a child from physical and emotional harm or danger
- ensure adequate supervision (including the use of inadequate caregivers)
- ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment
- provide suitable education

It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child's basic emotional needs

Regional Procedures Neglect Local Child Neglect Guidance

Children at Greater Risk

Children who have individual needs and circumstances are more vulnerable and at risk of experiencing abuse. Where children are in more than one of these groups this further increases their vulnerability. These include:

If the:

- Child has special education needs and /or disabilities (SEND)
- Child identifies as part of the LGBTQIA+ (Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer/Questioning, Intersex, Asexual and more...) community
- Child is a 'Young carer'
- Child's behaviour indicates concern (e.g. online, anti-social/criminal, missing; multiple suspensions/risk of exclusion)
- Child has ill Health (physical or mental)
- Child has one or more "protected characteristics" Easy Read: The Equality Act
- Child is a baby under one
- Child is privately fostered

If the adults who care for children...

- Have unmet health and wellbeing needs (including mental ill health, alcohol and/or drug misuse)
- Have died or the child is separated and/or estranged from them (including if the child is an unaccompanied asylum seeker, when parent/carer in custody etc)
- Have been cared for by someone other than their parents (including the Local Authority or private fostering); at present or in the past.
- Need additional help and support from social workers.

The places children spend time in...

- There is conflict/abuse at home/ family
- Home is temporary/ unstable
- Not regularly attending/provided with or missing suitable full-time education.
- Living in families/communities where religious or cultural practices increase potential harm to the child (including so called honour-based abuse and/or FGM Female Genital Mutilation)
- Places outside of home (including online) are not safe or suitable for their age or level of development.
